Major General Rousseal .- Gen. Roussea has received the appointment of Major General. He should have received it many months ago. Tardy justice is injustice. However we are much gratified that the gallant hero, "the Murat of the army," is neglected no longer.

Maj. Gen. Crittenden and staff arrived in the city Saturday morning.

General Leslie Combs writes to us that Major Saar Morgan is now lying, dangerously wounded, at the house of John Morgan' mother, in Lexiagton, and not "at a farm house near Munfordville." The Major is under pledge to remain where he is until exchanged

GEN. EDWIN PRICE.—This Confederate offieer, son of Gen. Sterling Price, has resigned his commission in the rebel service and returned to Chariton county, Mo. The proceedings in the City Court on Saturday morning were devoid of interest. THE DRAFT IN BOSTON.—Nine hundred and four men have been drafted in Boston since Wednesday last. In consequence of the action of the city conneil, increasing the bounty offered to volunteers, and the response made by the citizens, the commissioners have announced that but one man a day will be drafted for a few days, in the hope that the quota of the city will be filled by volunteer ing. Only the minimum requirement of the Jounson's Guerhlas Routed .- Information was received at headquarters in this city on Saturday that Col. Shackelford's forces had encountered Adam Johnson's rebel guerillas at some point in Union county, flag displayed it from their housetops or winkilling seventeen, wounding a lirge number, and taking many prisoners. Indeed, Johnsou's reverse, it is said, was worse than a de- over his front door, and upon which occasion feat-it was a complete rout.

This may do very well for bashful snitors, but it is too slow a process for the impulsive In this country our young men would have "one touch to the hand and one word in the ear" of their lady loves long before the dinner hour, and the question would be popped 'Turkey or shoat, my adored one?' and the answer would be an accepting gobble or a Commenting upon this, in the Albany Journal, Thurlow Weed says there is small attention, amid the clangor of war, given to literary, social, or donaestic themes. And yet the reading of this paragraph in a Loudon paper brings an incident to mind that seems worthy of another paragraph. Last winter in control of the paragraph. Last winter in control of the paragraph. Last winter in control of Philadelphia, New York, and Newyork. brings an incident to mind that seems worthy of another paragraph. Last winter, in conversation with Sir Henry Holland about the celebrities of his day, we inquired if he had known Madame D'Arblay. He answered myes, adding that some twenty-five years ago a little, old lady, alike plain in dress and person, with quiet manners, but otherwise mereson, with quiet manners, but otherwise the returns of the gas manufacture were not complete, and that more than 5,000,000,000 of eulic feet were made.

Illuminating Gas.—There were 206 gas works in the United States in 1860, using 519,423 tons of coal, employing 5,221 men, and producing more than four thousand millions of chile feet of gas, valued at $11,224,389, including coke. The report states that the returns of the gas manufacture were not complete, and that more than 5,000,000,000,000 of eulic feet were made.

FLAX COTTON.—Some time ago we took occasion to notice several line samples of flax cotton which were shown us by Mr. S. H. Coudiet, of this city, both in its raw and woman person, with quiet manners, but otherwise complete, and that more than 5,000,000,000 of eulic feet were made. him professionally, and on receiving his prescription, left her guinea, and departed. GOVERNMENT COLTON.-The amount of Govnment Sea Island cotton brought to New fork during the past season was nearly 2,000 ales, and the sum realized from its sale about 600,060. Recent advices from Port Royal tate that the new crop is beginning to come n, and promises well. The first cargo may be expected to arrive here within a fortnight. The cutire cotton crop this fall, from the Caroina Sea Islands, is estimated at not less than 3,500 bales. This has been grown and will be cathered under the direction of the Governnent. A small portion only will be ginned on the spot. All the rest of it will be brought o New York, and given out to those conractors who bave already been engaged in inning for the Government.

LEXINGTON, Det. 22, 1862. Having seen two attempts in your paper n giving an account of the late Morgan dasl ruth as to be unrecognized by our citizens, wall myself of the resumption of the mails to ive you as near as possible a true account la Friday, the 17th, about two bundred and fiffy Federal ravidry came into Lexington and at night camped at Ashland, the residence of J. B. Clay. On Saturday morning, a little ifter five n'clock, they were attacked by Morgan's forces, and after a short fight were completely surrounded by an overpowering force and compelled to surrender. About twentyfive of the cavalry were stationed in the courthouse, and had determined to fight, and did fire a few-shots at the approach of Morgan's men; but our Major, Colonel Worley, fearing lows to surrender. The result of the fight was four killed and eleven wounded on the part of the Federals, two mortally, and one hundred and sixty prisoners. So far as is known the rebels had three bally wounded, among them Major Wash, Morgan, supposed to be mortally wounded; he is a consin of John Morgan, and was one of his best and bravest officers. A reliable gentleman reports meeting two wagon oads of dead, who were being removed to Mrs. Preston's farm near by; and another reiable genfleman reports twelve graves, newly made, on her farm. All agree that the Federals made as gallant a defence as possible, and that it would have been folly to have made

Thank God, we are once more in the United States, with the luxuries of railroad, postoffice, and telegraph, after all dangers are passed. General Granger's advanced forces reached here yesterday morning, and once more the stars and stripes float over our city.

MANUFACTURES,

India Rubber Goods,—The total value of these goods produced in the United States in 1860 was $5,728,900, an increase of ninety-one per cent, since 1850. Nearly one-hild of the whole amount was produced in Conaecticut, and about one-fifth in New Jersey. In Rhode Island about one hundred hands were em-three and three fourths millions in Ohio, three and one third in Mossachusetts, and three mil-ions in Penasylvania. In Rhode Island the products were valued at $217,472.

Musicul Instruments.—The rapid increase in the manufacture of piano-fortes and other musical instruments shows our advance in wealth, and refinement. In New England, wealth and refinement. In New England, New York, and Pennsylvania there was an increase of 150 per cent, in this manufacture from 1850 to 1860, and New York alone in 1860 produced $811.862, more than the amount in the whole country in 1850. The total value produced in 1860 was $5,791,807, of which $3,392,577 was to New York, and $1,762,470 was in Messaghretts.

AN ENGLISH SHIP BURNED IN A SPANIS Our.—Un the 8th instant the merchant shi Blanche, Captain Smith, carrying the Britis lig, was burned on the coast of Cuba, si niles north of Moro Castle, by the United tates gunboat Montgomery. The particulars re given as fallows: The Blanche was formerly engaged in the

The Blanche was formerly engaged in the trade between New Orleans and Cuba, but was sold since the war to an English house. In her way from Matamoras to Cuba she stopped at Mulata to take in coal. She then sailed for Hayana with a Spanish pilot on board. When near that place and off Mariana, she saw at a distance on American ship running towards her with all speed. The ship proved to be the gunboat Montgomery, Captain Hunter. The captain of the Blanche became alarmed, and, instead of waiting for her, attempted to escept. The Montgomery continued her pursuit, compelled her to wear around and rau her ashore six miles north of Moro Castle.

The Alcalde, who had watched he movements from the shore, took a boat, and with two or three other men weat on board the Blanche, on which he hoisted the Spanish dag as a sign that she was under the protection of the Spanish government. At the same on of the Spanis's government. At the same me Captain Hunter, of the Monigomery, dered two boats with armed men to go on Gue on heard, the officer in command ex-ained to Captain Smith and to the Alcable that his mission was, and told them that he nin ashore together with the three Spaniards who were with him. After this, they came back, set fire to the ship, and carried away the Cuban pilot who had been taken by Capt. Smith at Mariana.

> PATRIOTS OF KENTUCKYI Your State is again invaded by the vandal nordes of Morgan, Ferguson, Jack Allen, and others. Your Government demands your services. All the claims of patriotism call on you to come forth to the rescue of your country in this her hour of greatest need. You have said by your votes on divers occasions, and you till protest that you are unalterably attached o the Union as it was, and that this most unpoly of all rebellions must be crushed out Are you in carnest in your professions of lidelity to our institutions? It so, the time has authorized to raise a regiment of infantry for nree years' service, with headquarters at lunfordville, where men will be put into camp and furnished with equipments as fast as tendered. All companies or detachments for the Regiment (Thirty-third) will report to my Adjutant, James A. Dawson, at that place, and all letters of enquiry will be promptly answered if addressed to him. THE WONDERFUL TYPE SETTING AND DISTRIBUTING MACHINE. We can safely say that we have never ex-

We can safely say that we have never examined any other invention with so much greath anno and astonishment as the "Alden Type Setting and Distributing Machine." Not only ourselves, but inventors and machinists of the highest order, in this country and from Europe, have inspected and witnessed its operation, and, without a single exception, all look upon it with wan lering admiration.

This machine is the work and invention of a young man named Alden, who spent his ble, as well as life's means, in working out discovery. We need not say that it supersedes the n-ses of the compositor, and asks of him no lingers to distect and seize the several types, set them in order and array them in words in the stick. The machine does all this like a living being, and sets them afterward in galley, then in page, &c.; and again asks no buman fingers to separate the mass and restore each type to its own sort in case. The machine can make no mistake; for its task is reduce to perfection. An invention like this must assuredly be the most remarkable of the again world.

You see before you a table of brass, almost circular, the pirl nearest the operator being flittened; and at a slight elevation you see, radiating from the centre, numerous deep "aftevs — of brass also—within which the alleys and this live and the pirl nearest the operator being flittened; and at a slight elevation you see, radiating from the centre, numerous deep "aftevs — of brass also—within which the

"adiating from the centre, numerous deep "afteys —of brass also—within which the types are made to stand; and these "afteys" (numbering one hundred and eighty) are the substitutes for the usual boxes or divisions in ease. In these "alleys" are placed one hun-dred and fifty-four different characters, and they are so arranged as to hold exactly the tre three "alleys" for the lower case a, while there is but one for the letter b, two for c, five for e, and so on throughout. These "alleys" are divided into six different sections, with nandles attached, allowing them to be raised ip instantly, in order to change their font of length, and upon which are one hundred and fifty-flar keys, with silver-alsted heads, resembling those of the concentrat. These keys are all plainly lettered, and the entire alphabet of each cass of letter is arranged within praning distance of the hand. They enfrance the Roman upper and lower cases, small capitals, italies, double letters, numerals, punctions gives and spaces. tions, signs, and spaces.

In the corre of the table is the "main wheel," thirty inches in diameter, revolving wheel," Hirty inches in diameter, revolving apan friction rollers, and upon its circumference are thirty-six "conveyors," or hands, every other one of which attends to setting no type, while every other attends one is required to distribute ohl matter into the same "alleys" from which the setting "conveyors," or "leads," Take their type. Within the "main wheel" is another, three inches wide, and twelve in diameter, revolviches wide, and twelve in diameter, revolv wenty-eight inches in diameter, and on the outside of which there are eighteen grooves of solished steel, filled nearly full with excanearest the "anner wheel," there are "levers" attached. The "main wheel" revolves around the outside of the "executated rim," carrying with it the "conveyors." Upon one end of these "conveyors" there are nine movible of the standard stan Tringers' glide along in the groves upon the convex for each finger to work in and when they reach that part of the table nearest the operator, all the "fingers" are thrown flush their lower groove. From the "keyboard" e "register wheel, having the steel pins when the composer touches a key, signifying the character he wants, the signil is pussed out to the "register wheel" through the rods, which act as a medium, and there registers the character by pushing out a certain combination of pussing last the bregister, wheel is the bregister wheel the man, he has been enabled to organize a stock company of $100,000, and composed chiefly of capitalists of this city. of pins; and as the 'register wheel volves, the pias thrown out pass under au-tilt the little levers attached to the nine stee rods communicating with the "exeavated rim, thus changing the combination in the groov upon the "excavated rim," equalizing the con bination of pins upon the "register wheel; and when the first "conveyor" passes by takes its signal by certain of the "fingers When the "conveyor" reaches the "alley" containing the character desired, it is instanty stopped, and the fingers drop into the excucomposer's fingers may require; and, when the matter set up reaches the further end of this "alley," everything is broken into page, and there justified, ready to be earried off to the press to be printed from. The "quads," "thin spaces," and "hyphens" are distributed close at hand. The operator has only to read his manuscript and touch his keys. From practice his fingers involuntary pass to the key, as they now do to the divisions in case. He can acquire a facility of touching these keys much more rapidly than the "carrying wheel revolves; and by so doing he accumulates signals upon the "register wheel" in advance of the de-livery—even to the extent of sixty letters—nt which instant a bell inside gives the alarm that the "register wheel" is full. The compositer then stops to read his copy before him, and justifies that which he has already set up and justifies that which he has already set up in page. All the while letters previously sent for are working in, and he is rendy to proceed with fresh composition. If the operator makes a mistake by touching the wrong key, he can easily correct it by furning off all the signals upon the "register wheel," or a portion of them, us may be necessary.

The most remarkable part of the machine is the "distribution department," which is mare-the "distributing department," which is pure-ly automatical. Both operations may be carried on logether or separately. The opera-tor pays no attention whatever to the distributor pays no attention whatever to the distribution, except to place a page of dead matter (even "pi-lot") upon the table, and the machine of itself then takes charge of it. The manufacturer will pay the duty upon some separated from the mass or page by a powerful "lifter," and other appliances of machinery carry the line along to the end of n deep "alley," and then the "Mistributing conveyors" stop, and each taking a letter, carries it home to its proper "alley.

Nor can it be possible to make a mistake by misplacing a letter; for the governing power. Nor can it be possible to make a mistake by misplacing a letter; for the governing power is the different combinations of nicks in the type. The type, by the way, may be cust nt one-laff cent less per ponnd then that made in the usual way, which is readily accounted for by the saving of metal. Did type, of any description, can be nicked by the thousan with a simple plane, gaged to any form, and adapt itself to this machine.

The principle of "distribution" is much the accounted for by the saving of metal. The principle of "distribution" is much the Coverament, the Coverament of the Large properly assessed upon such goods or manufactures have been actually paid by the seller.

Internal Revenue—Regulations for the Collection of the tax on Cotton.—Whenever any cotton, the pronduct of the United States, shall be furnished to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and that the taxes properly assessed upon such goods or manufactures have been actually paid by the seller.

Internal Revenue—Regulations for the Collection of the tax on Cotton.—Whenever any cotton, the pronduct of the United States, shall the ory than the account of the United States, shall the organization.

All the ory thus been drawn assessed upon such goods or manufactures have been actually paid by the seller.

Internal Revenue—Regulations for the Collection of the tax on Cotton.—Whenever any cotton, the pronduct of the United States, shall the organization.

All the organization of the Consideration of the United States, shall the organization of the United States, whenever any control of the United States, shall the organization of the United States, and the prior to the first day of July last, and in the prior to the first day of July last dapt itself to this machine.

The principle of "distribution" is much the Government, the Assessor or Assistant As ing box into the nicks of the type, forming a particular continuation, which is signaled to the "conveyor stopping for the character, and the "fingers" upon it become changed from lower to upper grooves upon the "exeavated demand of the owner, or other person having of such cattern the return the same to the Collector of Said district.

And said "offector or Deputy Collector shall demand of the owner, or other person having charge of such cattern the training and shall without delay, return the same to the Collector or Deputy Collector shall demand of the owner, or other person having the character, and the collector of the owner, or other person having the character and the collector of said district. im, comparing with the combination of fin the type. The other end of the lingers having fropped against a "graduated stop," allows a passageway to open just the width of the type, which is passed out through to the 'convey, or,' which receives it naturally, and follows on with the "main wheel." The "conveyors go through the same revolution that the "setting conveyors" do in composing.

The "conveyors is do in composing.

Every Collector to whom any tax upon cotton shall be paid, shall mark the bales or othe nackages upon which the oax shall have been ackages upon which the oax go through the same revolution that the "setting conveyors do in composing.

As a matter of necessity, the machinery is conderfully nice, the agencies and dependences very numerous, and the whole fabric emingly a very complicated one, while, in truth, its adjustment, as finally reached by the discoverer is the simullest thing in the world discoverer, is the simpliest thing in the world. One "alley," one "conveyor, and one key constitutes almost the entire machine—all the constitutes almost the entire machine—all the rest is duplication. All the "keys" are alike, and the "alleys" helding the type are also all alike.

If the sorts in setting and distributing type do not run equally, or nearly so, there is always a surplus kept ahead. When there are letters in the alphabet occupying more than one "alley," the "conveyors" invariably set from and distribute into the first line first. If the "alley" becomes either full or empty the "conveyor" passes on to the next line. If the machine is distributing and not setting the type, and the "alleys" become fall, the "conveyors' stop up longer at the "alley," but rype, and the arters become fail, the "conveyors stop uo longer at the "alley," but glide along to the "pi-bag," and drop the surdus therein. When the "pi-bag" is full, the type is again set upon the table, and is sent to its allotted place. "Could anything be more like one to find the least frult with any portion of this novel affair, there being a provision made for any and every emergency diringhout the entire machine. No wear whotever is not become an entire to the entire machine.

There are numerous points of equal beauty and utility in its adaptation of means to ends

s almost wholly dependent upon positive irstend of spring movements.

The "main wheel" has only to make six revolutions per minute to set up and distribute ical genius. But, except the fame, he will reap none of the fruits of his discovery. Timothy Alden was a native of Massachusetts. For many years of his life he devoted himself to the perfection of his invention, and in a firm concentration of will and brain and money he exhausted all the resources of life, and wore out life itself prematurely in the labor. The incessant strain tor so long a period proof his active intellect proved too exhaustive lor. The incessant strain for so long a period upon his active intellect proved too exhaustive for a physique naturally fieldle, and he sauk under his task of genius.

But he succeeded. He trinuphed even before death; he lived just long enough to cry "Enreka;" to put the finishing stroke to his labors; to see his machine in successful and nstilies, and reads his own matter (thus dom way, in a great measure, with proofreaders lace a type into its wrong "alley."

During the last twenty years of the inventor's life he depended mainly upon his consin, Henry W. Alben, for funds to enable him to continue on experimenting. He conserved the plan of setting and distributing type by madision, at the constitution of the conserved the plan of setting and distributing type by madision, at the conserved the ast as he had gotten out his patents in t

The upon the machine, as he had been directed to do by his consin while on his death bed, in order to insure perfect success. After having completed three machines, he caused one of them to be put into practical use. There the work stopped for the want of additional means to go forward with manufacturing. Affairs remained in the way for a long time, until Charles C. Yeaton became interested with W. Allen, and through that indomirable

The terrorism in the State is frightful. The adherents of the Union were stignatized as "Lineoln hirelings," "Black Republicans, "abolitionists," etc., and they were jibed and insulted in every conceivable manner. Nevertheless, not a few defied the persecutions, and still upheld the Government and the old flag. This faithfulness and patriotism have not by any means wholly disappeared yet, though the unexpected duration of the rehellion, and the extraordinarily ernel means employed to coerce submission to the Davis despotism, have had marked effects in keeping down the semblance of that opposition which is so rife in the breasts of thousands of the most intelligent and worthy of the citizens.

The condition of society in Texas is represented to be of the most primitive, chaolic, ented to be of the most primitive, chaoli nd immethodical character. Mr. Whittak escribes it as altogether monarchical in i endency, though it is doubtful whether loes not really verge toward an alsolute re on against any system of government We should shudder to recount a tithe the horrible outrage perpetrated by the sectionists upon Union families, solely on a count of their political opinions.
